About me

Introducing myself briefly, I'm a graphic designer graduated from the Escuela Superior de Diseño de Madrid in Spain, although I have a long career with more than 9 years of experience in a self-taught way, prior to coursing my studies officially.

During this period, I have specialized myself in the creation of branding, icon creation and 2D animation, as well as in the administration of social networks as a community manager and creator of content in the form of videos, also assuming the responsibility of creating and designing all the elements in them.

I have experience with the entire Adobe Creative Suite, although I must highlight Photoshop, Illustrator, After Effects, Premiere and Lightroom. I do also have experience with other programs such as Procreate, Vectornator, Figma and Final Cut Pro.

I am currently working at Decathlon Spain, in the Human Resources department as a graphic designer, creating much of the content intended for training, from its recording, through editing and assembly and its subsequent post-production including the creation of its inner elements such as animated intros and outros.
